ODE

ON HIS

Sacred Majesties INAUGURATION, IN Latin and English.

From the FLEET,
Under the Generous Jurisdiction of RICHARD
MANLOVE Esq; the Worthy Warden thereof.

L I C E N S E D,
May 27, 1686. ROB. MIDGLEY.

London, Printed by Edward Jones. 1686.

ODE Sancti GEORGII
Die Decantata, Aprilis 23. 1686.

VIRI sub utroque Globo,
Terræ & cuiuscunque Gentes
Concordes elevate mentes,

Et Gratulemini ꝑ ACOBO.
Priorem Quo, non habet Mundus,
Honorum Primus Hic est fundus,
ꝑ ACOBVS Nomine Secundus.

2. Gaudete Reges Forderati!
Tuba Sonet, ac Tormentum,
Et omne fiat Argumentum
In Laudem Regis Coronati.

3. Gallus gaudeat, ac Iberus;
Danus, & Polona Pubes:

Tristitiæ serenent nubes
Nobilitas, Anglusque Clerus.

4. Hibernus indies accrescat,
Et quum Temperabit Lyram

Scotus

The Song sung on St. George's
Day, &c.

LET every Kingdom, Camp and Court,
Whose Natives to this Realm resort,
Congratulate That Prince, whose Name's
(As His Blest Grandfathers was) King JAMES;
Second by Name, but in the Throne,
And Orb of Honour, shines Alone,
And There sits Second unto None.

2. Let all Confederate Kings and Powers,
Whose Kingdoms are at Peace with Ours,
Rejoyce; Whilst Trumps and Cannons Ring,
The Loud Elogiums of Our KING.

3. Let France and Spain disband all Fears;
With Denmark, and great Polands Peers;
Whilst Nobles, with the Clergy, clear
All Clouds arising in Our Sphear.

4. When Ireland Tunes his Charming Lyre,
Stout Scotland's Lyon doth retire,

Scotus Leo leniat Iram,
Cardinalisque Rosa coalescat.

5. Thamesi concurrat Tiber,
Europa Magnæ Mercatorum
Londinum stat commune Forum,
 Sit homo Verna, sive Liber.

6. Olyssipona Lusitanus
 Liberè nobiscum misceat
 Cor, ac Merces quales liceat,
 Et Regis Osculetur Manus.

7. Quid ambigitis Batavi?
 Calamitas vos quoties urget,
 Sospitator Is assurgat
 Cui Patris Os, & Mens est Avi.

8. Tanti est, noster Imperator;
 Princeps oculatæ Mentis,
Martia Terror, ac Tridentis
 Terræ, & Mari Triumphator.

9. Cives Portas aperite,
 Vestrum & salutate Regem,
 Qui Musas & tuetur Legem,
Granta Præs, & Bellofita.

10. Dies

(5)

*And her Pungent Thistles close
In Union with our English Rose.*

5. *Thames and Tiber both Combine ;
And Londons made the Magazine
Of Merchandize ; in each Degree,
Where Men do meet, both Bond, and Free.*

6. *Lisbond's Rich, and Royal Pile,
Freely Traffiques with Our Isle
In most Commodities of the Land,
And Joys to Kiss Our Sovereign's Hand.*

7. *Belgia then no more distrust
A Prince, whose Prudence can Adjust
All Differences, in whom you'll find
His Father's Face, and Grandfire's Mind.*

8. *So Qualifi'd is He to Reign,
Whose Active Body, and Strong Brain,
Puts Mars and Neptune to the stand,
He Riding Lord by Sea and Land.*

9. *Ye Citizens, set wide Your Gates
To Him who is the THREE ESTATES
Sole Prop ; A Prince of Deep Discerning,
Pillar both of Law and Learning.*

10. This

10. Dies Iste Gloriosus ;
Hispania Fontes vina fundant ;
 Dum Rubro Latices redundant,
 Sit nemo Mœstus, aut Morosus.

11. Angliæ sudum rarò certius,
 Aut Serenum sic affulsit,
Musica tam nos demulsit
 Vicissimus Aprilis Tertius.

12. GEORGIUS heic JACOBO junctus;
 Ambo Genii Tutelares
Angliæ defendunt Lares ;
Georgius olim fato functus,
 Et Præsens DEI Princeps UNCTUS.

13. Unanimes Britanni State,
Boreæ Sidus, & Occiduum,
 State Corpus Individuum,
 Et Laudem DEO Jubilate.
 Hic Hic est cui succumbet Mundus,
 Per Quem JACOBUS Fons, & Fundus
Honorum, nulli stat Secundus.

ro. This

10. *This is a Day of Jubilee ;
 Let all be Debonair, and free
 To Quaff what London's Conduits carry,
 Burdeux Wine, or Old Canary.*

11. *Musick ne'er was better heard
 On such an April's Twenty Third,
 Than This, where Air and Earth conspire
 In Consort to make up the Quire.*

12. *For GEORGE and JAMES Our Tutelary
 Guardians, joyntly keep and carry
 A Correspondence, GEORGE Translated
 Long since to Bliss, and there Instated ;
 And JAMES by Heaven's Decree appointed
 Britain's Ruler, GOD's ANOINTED.*

13. *To Him let Britain's North and South,
 Give Praise with Mutual Heart and Mouth,
 And cleave in Love and true Communion
 To Him, who is the GOD of Union.
 'Tis HE, 'Tis HE that can alone
 Guard and support Great JAMES his Throne,
 Who sits here SECOND unto None.*

Canti-

Cantilenam Concludamus cum Authoris Actione Gratiarum post Prandium.

GRATES DEO Tibi damus
Pro Donis Vestris; & oramus
Ut Rex JACOBUS diu vigeat,
Nec Britannus Orbs indigeat
Rege Nato de JACOBIS,
Donec adsit SHILO Nobis. Amen.

We will conclude this Gratulatory ODE with the Author's Usual Grace after Dinner.

LORD, Give us humble and right thankful Hearts
For all the Blessings which thy Love Imparts:
And Bless our Sacred Soveraign King JAMES,
Who of His Royal Line, and Christian Name's
Fourth Monarch of Great Britain; Scotlands Seventh,
King of both Realms th' Hundred and Eleventh:
LORD Grant that from His Seed there ne'er want One
Till SHILO come, to sit upon the Throne. Amen.
